G. O. P. INSURGENTS FAIL OF STAMPEDE

State Chairman Morris Sees No Need to Anticipate Democrats' Action.

OTHER CHIEFS UNSHAKEN

Tendency Is to Consult With County Leaders, but Not for Conference.

The demand which came yesterday from nine Republican members of the House of Representatives for a conference of Republican leaders in this State preliminary to a party reorganization apparently gave the G. O. P. managers here little or no alarm.

George K. Morris, State chairman, made formal acknowledgment of the letter signed by Luther W. Mott, Hamilton Fish, Jr., and seven others and then remarked:

"The Republican party in this State is not ready yet to adopt the Smith platform."

This reference evidently was to the platform outlined in the letter from the Congressmen calling for a series of legislative measures which are demanded for the salvation of the party in this State. In the main, these follow the policies outlined by Alfred E. Smith and the Democratic State platform. Messrs. Mott and Fish are the leaders of this so-called insurgent movement.

Before deciding to call a party conference Mr. Morris and his associates wish to hear from all the county leaders who are in actual command of organization units. The reorganization demand so far has come entirely from the outside and there has been no movement from within the ranks of the regulars indicating dissent.

The advisability of holding such a conference as the nine Congressmen demand is questioned by the regular leaders and therefore it probably will not be held. The suggestion will be given "most careful consideration," Mr. Morris said.

Members of the party committee are elected for two years and therefore an unofficial conference cannot change the makeup of the real organization management. All that could be accomplished would be to adopt a declaration of principles. The leaders are of the opinion, evidently, that until the Smith administration has made its start and laid down its policies the Republicans have nothing to do but wait.

Samuel S. Koenig, leader of New York county, was in conference yesterday with district leaders and advisers trying to map out the course for the Republicans left in the State Legislature. Nothing definite was decided. Mr. Koenig said. They also were getting ready for any attack on Mr. Koenig's leadership which may be made at the next meeting of the county committee.

FENCE SAVES EXPRESS FROM BEING DITCHED

Seven Hurt When New Haven Train Is Derailed.

BOSTON, Dec. 18.—Seven persons were injured when the Providence Express of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad left the rails at Hyde Park station this afternoon. Miss Josephine Hadlich of North Bergen, N. J., a passenger, and Fireman Joseph A. McLaughlin of Dedham, were the most seriously injured.

The locomotive and tender turned over, but the ten passenger cars were held almost upright by a heavy iron fence at the side of the track.

Miss Hadlich escaped instant death by a hair's breadth. As the cars plunged from the track a section of rail, torn from its place, pierced the side of a coach, pinning the girl to her seat at the other side of the car. When help came it was found the rail had fastened itself in the woodwork of the car wall, this stopping it just as it touched Miss Hadlich's forehead. At a Boston hospital to-night it was said her injuries might prove fatal.

Railroad officials said they could not explain the derailment, which occurred about eight miles out from South Station, which the train left at 4:44 P. M. Passengers said that the cars bumped heavily several times before the final shock. The track was torn up for 150 feet, and to-night trains were being routed by the Midland division.

HYLAN ADVOCATES THIRD AVE. SUBWAY

Mayor at Luncheon Preceding Unveiling of New Traffic Tower Gives His Plan.

WANTS ELEVATED RAZED

First of Bronze Structures Unveiled in Fifth Ave. With Considerable Ceremony.

At a luncheon at the Hotel Biltmore preceding the unveiling at Fifth avenue and Forty-second street of the first of the new bronze traffic towers to be installed in Fifth avenue, Mayor Hylan made an address in which he advocated a new subway under Third avenue to take the place of the Third avenue elevated, and urged that the elevated be scrapped to make way for a municipal bus line.

The Mayor's original transit plan did not provide for a Third avenue subway, and his address was the first intimation that he had made any changes in his scheme. The original program was for a subway from 161st street and Third avenue, through First avenue and the lower East Side to Park row and Brooklyn.

The Mayor said he would put through the Third avenue subway line if the Legislature would enact the necessary laws.

The presentation of the first new tower in Fifth avenue, which took place with a company from the Sixteenth Infantry and a detachment of Marines drawn up on either side of the thoroughfare, was marked by considerable ceremony. The exercises were opened with the unveiling of the tower by Joseph H. Freudenberger, the designer, who turned it over to C. Stanley Mitchell, chairman of the traffic towers committee of the Fifth Avenue Association, who in turn presented it to John H. Towne, chairman of the board of directors.

It was then formally presented to the city through Mayor Hylan, from whom it was successively transferred to Grover A. Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures; Deputy Police Commissioner Joseph A. Faurot, acting for Commissioner Enright; and Deputy Commissioner John A. Harris, in charge of traffic. Robert Grier Cooke, president of the Fifth Avenue Association, presided.

sided at the unveiling and short speeches were made. The new towers are of solid bronze on a stone base, standing twenty-four feet high and weighing approximately five tons. Each will be equipped with a 350 pound bronze bell which will toll the hours by means of an electrically synchronized clock. At the top of each tower will be a bronze eagle.

COLUMBIA MEETING EULOGIZES PASTEUR

Great Frenchman's Work for Medicine and Science Praised

Pasteur the man is revered by the French as much as Pasteur the scientist, said Prof. Emmanuel de Margerie of the University of Strasbourg, French exchange engineering professor, at a meeting to commemorate the Pasteur centenary last evening in Havermyer Hall, Columbia University, under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Sciences.

Prof. Gary N. Calkins of Columbia and Prof. Frederic S. Lee of the College of Physicians and Surgeons also spoke. Prof. de Margerie said that one sign of the devotion of the French to the scientist was that 30,000 of the 35,000 communes in France had named streets for him. He asserted that one of the characteristics of Pasteur which has had a profound effect on French thought was his attitude of faith, both in the laboratory and in his private life. The speaker went on:

"Faith, that virtue which makes heroes and saints, and gives them power to endure as small griefs many hardships and sufferings—faith was from his youth a characteristic feature of Pasteur's personality and it permeated his thoughts and deeds. In reading over the beautiful history of his life one cannot but be struck by the candid manner in which Pasteur remained to the end, and without any apparent conflict between the two sides of his nature, an unhesitating Christian in his religious concerns as well as an intrepid reasoner in the demands of science."

YOUNG WOMAN MISSING.

Miss Mabel Woods, 18, who was believed to have left her home in Atlantic Highlands, N. J., on Saturday morning for a shopping trip to New York, is missing, according to her mother, Mrs. Lydia Woods. The young woman was last seen at the railroad station in Atlantic Highlands.

SHIP MODEL VIEW EXTENDED.

The exhibition of the Ship Model Society now being held in the rooms of the Architectural League, 215 West Fifty-seventh street, has been extended one week until December 26, by the courtesy of the league. Antique and modern scale model ships, nautical instruments and naval prints are being shown.

18th Century Telephone Tables

Made long before the telephone was invented, they were designed for a few favorite books, but nothing could be more practical for today's telephone needs. The books go on the lower shelf and the instrument on top.

Some of these convenient little tables have drawers to keep pads and pencils together. There are eleven, mostly walnut, ranging in price from $40 to $90.

Old Normandy Handkerchiefs, $2 to $7.

These are the large printed squares in color worn around the neck in Deauville this summer, and now being used with flannel sports suits and sweaters. There are pairs—for blouses. Single ones—for hats and neckerchiefs.

Unusual Modern Pottery—Candlesticks and French Breakfast Sets

Moors, carrying candles on their heads. Candlesticks that may be mounted for bedside lamps—with rose and green decorations.

Breakfast sets—open patterns—so that pieces may be replaced if broken.

Exclusive designs.

A Pair of Fine Old Wall Paper Panels.

"A City Hunt," by Bunbury, dedicated to His Royal Highness George, Prince of Wales, by James Bretherton. 5 ft. 2 inches long, 1 ft. 10 inches deep. $200. pair. For a man's room.
